REV. BENN RESIGNS

Pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church—Accepts a Call To Newport, Ark.

The resignation of Rev. R. L. Benn comes as a surprise to his many friends, both in and out of the church. It becomes effective January 30, when he will leave for his new work at Newport, Ark.

Rev. Benn came to this city in 1910; while here he has always been found on the firing line for what he thought was for the welfare of his church and the city. He is an earnest student and deep thinker. His sermons are always helpful and inspiring. He has at different times in his church delivered a series of talks that would rank well with any chautauqua lectures.

He and his family will leave about February 1 for their new home. The Ledger joins with their many friends in wishing them a pleasant field of labor in his new charge.

SUCCESSFUL EUCHE.

Tuesday evening at the Eagles' Hall the Ladies' Euchre Club gave another one of their series of euehres. Those who attended the function were of the opinion that it was the best ever given by the club. Mr. Charles Rohmiller was awarded the first prize for the best gentleman played, while Mrs. John Kinsler won the premium offered the ladies.

Rev. C. E. Armstrong of Lexington, will preach at the Wesley church Sunday morning and at the Lawrence Creek church Sunday night. As this is a meeting of importance, we urge every member to be present at each service.

Covington reported a total of six alarms Tuesday morning.

BRICK STREETS

Internal Improvement Committee of Council Recommends Brick Paving For Several Streets.

Tuesday evening the Internal Improvement Committee of the Maysville Council met and after a bit of lively discussion recommended that the following streets be paved with brick during this year: Sutton, Lower Market, Bridge and East Second, and that Court street be treated with asphalt. This recommendation differs with the one offered several months ago by Council in that Wall and Limestone streets are left out. The committee recommends that this work be carried out as soon as possible. As the majority of the members of the City Council were elected on platforms that were in favor of better streets, it seems almost a certainty that the recommendation will become an ordinance, and that Maysville will have good streets.

Are the C. & O. Yards At Russell, Trains Being Blocked As Far East As Ashland.

The C. & O. railroad yards in the Russell division are badly congested with cars and last week trains were blocked off from entering the yards as far east as Ashland. The yard men are having troubles of their own, to keep the cars going. Three relief crews were put on Saturday to handle the congestion. One train passed Ashland at 3 p. m., and after being held up, finally got into the yards at midnight. Saturday sixteen trains were held back and Sunday the line was crowded with trains waiting an opportunity to get into Russell. Last Friday night there were 750 cars of coal at Shelby and 1,800 cars at Logan waiting to be moved westward.

RIVER CONTINUES TO FALL.

The river, which has been at a very high stage at this point for the last several days, continues to fall, although very slowly. The cold wave that struck the Ohio valley is somewhat moderating and this is given as the reason for the slow drop in the water. However, the weather forecasters say that the danger of a flood stage is past.

SLIGHTLY WARMER.

The mercury registered 7 degrees above zero Wednesday morning on the government thermometer. This is 10 degrees warmer than on the two previous mornings, and the change, although slight, is probably a forerunner of milder weather, which will be good news to the traveling public.

So far no real suffering has been reported in Maysville as the City Mission is investigating all cases reported and is giving clothing, food and coal to those in need.

Several farmers, driving in their teams to the local houses, have been almost frozen to death, but recuperate after arriving here.

PREPAREDNESS FOR INDUSTRIAL SUPREMACY.

Whether a man be an advocate or an opponent of military preparedness—whether he be an extremist in support of preparedness for war, or an advocate of "peace at any price"—whether a man be a native of the United States or a naturalized citizen—every patriotic American should be an advocate of preparedness for industrial supremacy in either peace or war. No nation can ultimately succeed in war unless it be first prepared to succeed in peace.

The industrial success of a nation depends upon exactly the same principles that govern the success of an individual in enterprise, namely, the income must equal or exceed the outgo. That nation which long continues with its commercial expenditures in excess of its commercial income must eventually reach a condition of industrial bankruptcy, just as a private enterprise must go into liquidation if it pursues a policy which makes its expenditures continuously greater than its income.

If the European war had served no other purposes for the United States, it certainly impressed upon the minds of the American people the importance of the general policy designated by the now familiar and popular word "preparedness."

There are many particulars in which we have been neglectful of our own commercial interests in the past. Although in our dealings with some important nations we have sold them more commodities than we have purchased from them yet we have been their debtor for one or more of the following reasons: First, they carried our commodities in their ships and received compensation from us therefor. Second, our citizens traveled in those countries as tourists and spent their money in sums which reached enormous annual totals. Third, we have paid to capitalists in those countries interest and dividends on investments they have made in American enterprise.

We can not hope that in all instances we shall buy from other nations less than we sell them. By a change in our economic policy, however, we can avoid becoming again a debtor nation, as we have been in the past.

By re-establishing the policy of protection which builds up American industries and gives employment to American labor, we can decrease our purchases from abroad and increase foreign sales of our own products. By building up a merchant marine we can make this country at least the carrier of its own products and save the wealth of this country the sums of money now paid for ocean transportation. By education and by building up strong public sentiment, we can convince the leisure class of American citizens of the equal or superior attractiveness of American summer and winter resorts, and encourage our people to spend their vacations and take their sight-seeing trips in our own country.

Stocks and securities of large American enterprises, such as railroads, street railways, power plants and some of our large industrial establishments, have been sold extensively in foreign countries. Upon the bonds and stocks thus held, we pay interest or dividends annually, the proceeds of which constitute a net gain to the wealth of those nations and a net loss to our own country, for we shall eventually be called upon to pay not only the interest but the principal as well. In order to perfect a plan of industrial preparedness it is essential that we build or extend our railroads and construct our factories and public service systems with capital supplied by our own people, thus keeping at home the interest and dividends and eventually providing a surplus of capital which we can invest in South America and other nations in an early stage of development.

Pursuit of such policies as are here outlined will not only thoroughly prepare us for successful industrial and commercial operations in time of peace but also place us in a position in case of the misfortune of war, to conduct our defense with the utmost independence of other nations.

THE BAD AND GOOD BOY.

Much of the story telling of the past generation reflected the spirit of the age, dividing characters into the bad or the good.

The bad must be slugged by the favored good. And goodness seemed to consist largely in not doing wrong.

The child of superabundant activity, seeking outlets for restlessness was always admonished to cultivate the passive virtues of the quiet, shy and inactive boy.

The restless child, nagged, misunderstood, often abused, through discipline and the very dominance of his will, may emerge into man of power and influence who can laugh over his boyish escapades and thrashings. Or the bad boy, so-called, may become the really bad man.

The quiet little pattern boy, on the other hand, requires no attention. He is no menace to comfort or harmony. If he is subjective, so much the better for the peace of the community. It goes without saying, that he often becomes the colorless, negative person lacking decision of character, waiting for other to take the initiative.

The modern social worker sees in the restless boy a capacity for strenuous work and play, and this is furnished him.

The sub-active child is not left as a finished product. He is a problem to be dealt with. If he is not developed to the full stature of manhood, society is to be the loser. So, from kindergarten age up he is urged to play his part. A boy's report sent from camp gave a poor showing under "morals." The parents feared gross misconduct, but ascertained that morals were judged by a display of community spirit and helpfulness to others. Goodness was not a negation at that camp.

The passive boy, too lacking in initiative to make any trouble, may become in later years the willing tool of more active and vicious minds. The boy who is daring enough to break rules, may be powerful enough to enforce rules, if the spirit of loyalty to community can be aroused in him. Let us try to have less waste boy products; don't underrate the troublesome boy; don't overlook the quiet one.

Winter is considered a difficult time to save money, on account of the high cost of fuel, vegetables, etc. There is an equal number of excellent reasons also why spring, summer and fall are difficult times to save money.

Whatever errors the income tax payers make in their returns, they never forget to allow for the tendency of profits to shrink and losses to enlarge.

ITEMS FROM ALL AROUND

800-Pound Berkshire.

(Franklin Favorite.)

The largest hog killed in Simpson county during the last year was a thoroughbred Berkshire killed by Charles F. Butt, which weighed 800 pounds. Eleven gallons of lard was rendered from the porker. The hams will weigh nearly fifty pounds each. Five noble-bodied men were required to lift the animal after the head was removed.

Just Like a Goose.

(Nicholas Advocate.)

R. O. Duncan stated to the Advocate that one morning the last week, when he was en route to his farm, that he saw several geese frozen in the pond on the Bruce Hughes place, in the suburbs of Henryville. He, with another party, freed the fowls by breaking the ice. Nothing but a "goose" would have remained in the water long enough to be made a prisoner by the ice.

A Good Supply.

(La Center Advance.)

Tom Furell killed four fine hogs during Christmas and salted them down nicely in a box, and rested satisfied since, thinking he would have plenty of meat to last his family all the year. A few days ago he decided that it was about time to hang it up and smoke it, he went to his box and found that some one had preceded him. On close examination he found that two big shoulders and four juicy hams had disappeared. Tom says a Democrat must have visited him, as a Republican always takes the "whole hog."

Green Bug on the Job.

(Hickman Herald.)

The spring aphid, popularly known as the green bug, has appeared in grain fields in western Kentucky and southern Missouri. The danger of this pest doing serious damage in spring depends to a great extent upon the weather now and the middle of April. If the temperature during this period is sufficiently high to enable the green bug to breed throughout the winter and at the same time sufficiently low to prevent its principal natural enemy—a minute black, four-winged fly—from developing, a serious infestation over a large area may be expected.

Predict Mild Winter.

(Crittenden County News.)

W. J. Williams, the first Hicks of Crittenden county, has made his predictions for the remainder of this winter. According to Mr. Williams we are to have mild weather the remainder of this winter. Don't think, however, that there is not going to be any cold weather at all, for Mr. Williams says that we will have several real cold spells and that overcoats in the daytime and blankets at night will be indispensable. He also says that there will be lots of rain and that wet weather will predominate. From February 22 to March 23, he says, will be the coldest season.

Curious Dog Malady.

(Glasgow Times.)

A new and curious malady has broken out in the Hilsosville country among the stray dogs, yellow dogs and any old dog. About the commonest sight to behold in that section is a dead dog lying around at any old time and at any old place. From some unknown cause and reason, the dogs are dying by the wholesale and what disease or "what means" is sending them to "dog heaven" is not known. Some "dend huns" are seen by the roadside; some are found in the backyards and some lay down and die in the front yard. That part of the country will soon be rid of their canines if the dog death rate keeps up much longer.

January 19.

Dr. David Starr Jordan, noted California educator, writer and publicist, is 65 years old today. For twenty years he was president of Leland Stanford University, and is now chancellor of that institution. He is an authority on fish and fisheries, and rendered important work for the government in the seal and fishery investigations, as well as writing several important books on the subject. Dr. Jordan is a noted peace advocate, and is chief director of the World Peace Foundation since 1910. He has been heard by many American audiences during the last year on the subject of permanent peace and the measures necessary to secure such a condition. Contrary to the opinions of many other publicists on the Pacific coast, he believes in using all races equally, and goes so far as to urge citizenship for the Chinese and Japanese. Dr. Jordan was born at Galesville, N. Y., January 19, 1851. He studied at Cornell and was an instructor there in his 20th year. He then took up teaching, botany and natural history being his specialties, until he became professor of biology in Butler University in 1875. Four years later he joined the faculty of Indiana University and became president of that institution in 1885. In 1891 he was called to Leland Stanford, and it was at this institution that he did his most notable work. Dr. Jordan is a popular speaker and is a firm believer in the power of education to lead human wills to rational conclusions.

Dr. George T. Ladd, famous psychologist of Yale University, 74 years old today. Albert J. Earling, noted railroad official of the northwest, 67 years old today.

ROOSEVELT TO ADDRESS AMERICANIZATION MEETING.

Philadelphia, Pa., January 19.—The assimilation of aliens within the borders of the United States into full citizenship and realization of their duties and responsibilities is the greatest step for internal preparedness for national defense, according to the publicists who are gathered here for the National Conference on Immigration and Americanization. The speakers are led by Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who will be the climax of the two-day session, speaking to the full delegation at a big public meeting tomorrow night.

The convention opened this morning with an art exhibition showing the contributions of foreign races to American art. A dinner will be given to the civic workers today by Mrs. E. T. Stotesberry of this city, who is vice chairman of the committee. Tomorrow the delegates will discuss the means and measures which should be taken to Americanize the great foreign mass of our population and identify it with the native born. Government officials, governors, heads of great industries and colleges, philanthropists and patriotic citizens will be heard. Colonel Roosevelt will sound the final note in his usual vigorous language, pointing out the pressing need of social and economic preparedness to meet any unusual conditions of the unsettled times.

While Congress is in the midst of discussion as to military and naval defense measures, Colonel Roosevelt will point out that ships and armies unsupported by internal preparedness will avail little. The Colonel conceives of internal preparedness as the promotion of internal unity by insistence on the same ideal of American citizenship, the same language, the same American standards of living everywhere throughout the country; the nationalization of industry or the adoption of national point of view for business, whether for peace or war; railway preparedness, both as a practical defense measure and a permanent business philosophy; industrial organization, with reference not only to war industries, but also to all others; the actual federalization of all public functions such as health departments, etc., for emergency; and above all, a national point of view on the part of the average American citizen.

CONFESSES LOOTING OF MILLION DOLLAR MAIL POUCH.

Wilmington, Del., January 19.—A further hearing will be given before United States Commissioner McHaffey today, in the mail theft case, in which $400,000 in securities disappeared from a mail pouch while being transported on a mail wagon in this city on Christmas eve. Albert Johnson, one of the colored drivers of the mail wagon, has confessed to complicity in the robbery and charges that the other driver, Earl Johnson, also colored, planned the looting.

The disappearance of the million-dollar mail pouch created a sensation on Christmas Day. Stock certificates to the amount of a full million were contained in the pouch. The Johnsons, who are not related, were employed as extra drivers during the Christmas rush. When they failed to deliver the full number of pouches, Postmaster English was notified. The police and the postoffice inspectors got busy. The rifled mail pouch was found under the seat of the wagon. It had been slit by a knife and the packages had been taken. From all appearances the robbers had information as to which pouch contained the securities, for it was not thought a mere coincidence that the robbers selected that particular mail pouch. Whether any other parties have been implicated by the negroes is the question that makes today's hearing of interest.

DEMONSTRATE FIGHT AGAINST FOREST INSECTS.

Boston, January 19.—Fighting the forest pests, especially the gypsy moth, is the principal subject for discussion at the meeting of the Eastern Foresters' Association, held here today. State Forester Rane of Massachusetts is presiding, and the forest experts from many states are attending. This afternoon the foresters will be taken to a demonstration of forest cutting now under way at Wellesley Farms, as a preventive of spread of moths.

SOUTH CELEBRATES LEE'S BIRTH

Atlanta, Ga., January 19.—The anniversary of the birthday of General Robert E. Lee is being celebrated at open meetings of the Daughters of the Confederacy in all southern towns and cities today. The United Confederate Veterans are also observing "Robert E. Lee Day."

THE WINTER BERRY.

Cranberries are so well liked and are so appetizing served in different ways that a few ways to serve them, will not come amiss. When you want something pretty as well as delicious serve with your roast the following sherbet.

Cranberry Sherbet.—Cranberries should be carefully looked over, and after cooking put into glass or stoneware to mold. If one cares to have them strained they may be put through a sieve as soon as they are cooked, then mold in any desired form. For the sherbet take four cupsful of stewed cranberry juice, add the strained juice of six oranges and four cupsful of sugar; freeze until mushy, then add the whites of four eggs beaten stiff, and finish freezing.

Cranberry Frappe.—Boil a quart of cranberries and two cupsful of water for ten minutes. Strain through a cheese cloth, add two cupsful of sugar and boil until the sugar is thoroughly dissolved. Add the strained juice of two lemons and if it seems too tart add more sugar. Freeze to a mush and serve in sherbet cups with roast turkey.

Cranberry Pudding.—Put a quart of berries on the fire to stew with sufficient water, drop small spoonfuls of butter over the berries, when they begin to boil cover and steam for 20 minutes. Serve with sugar and cream. Make the batter by using a cupful of flour, a half teaspoonful of salt, a beaten egg and half a cupful of milk. Drop by spoonfuls on the boiling berries.

Cranberry Conserve.—Pick over five pounds of berries and chop them rather coarse. Add two pounds of raisins put through the meat chopper, the rind of four oranges which has been cooked until tender and then chopped, add the juice of five oranges and ten cupsful of sugar. Cook until like jam. This makes an excellent relish for meat.

Cranberry pie needs no recommendation for it is universally liked. Make with strips of pastry forming a lattice work over the pie, instead of a solid crust.

CONFERENCE ON SCIENTIFIC HIRING.

Minneapolis, Minn., January 19.—A new profession, that of selecting employees for industries, may be established as the result of the annual convention of the National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education, which meets here today. Employment managers from many sections have come to the convention, as an innovation in industrial conferences. In Boston, Philadelphia and New York, some interesting results have been achieved in the study of selection as a more efficient method than the "hit or miss" system now in popular use. They have picked workers for their adaptability of the various trades, and have secured in this way the highest type of efficiency. Much interest centers in this experiment and it will be talked over at length today by the delegates.

The chief interest at the present convention is the Minneapolis Vocational Education Survey, which the society has been conducting since May, to determine just what kind of industrial training is required to meet the needs of this particular city.

Hon. John Lind, former Governor of Minnesota, will be toastmaster at the annual banquet of the society tomorrow evening. The speakers will include Hon. W. C. Redfield, Secretary of Commerce, Governor Harnquist and Dr. George B. Vincent, president of the University of Minnesota.

LAKE CARRIERS DISCUSS BIG COMBINATION.

Detroit, Mich., January 19.—The Lake Carriers' Association will hold its annual convention here tomorrow and many of the vessel owners have already arrived. The principal topic of talk is the combination which is reported to be taking over the lake lines owned by the railroads. This syndicate, said to be backed by Buffalo, Cleveland and Chicago capital, will take over not only the vessels which the railroads operated, but their terminal facilities, so that from present appearances the independents may be in about the same position in like traffic that they occupied in previous years. Under the Panama Canal Act, the railroads were forced to give up their lake lines, and it is understood that all have done so except the Lehigh Valley which will bring a test case to ascertain whether the law applies in their particular case.

TEST LEGALITY OF MUNITION INDICTMENTS.

Washington, January 19.—Whether the Sherman law is applicable in the famous munitions conspiracy case, in which prominent members of "Labor's National Peace Council" are indicted, will have a thrilling outcome here tomorrow at a preliminary hearing. The hearing was demanded by Former Congressman H. Robert Fowler, Henry B. Martin and Herman Schulteis, three of the indicted men. The three Washington men questioned whether the government can proceed against them under the provisions of the Sherman law. The attorneys for the defendants will ask the commissioner to determine whether there had been a harmful intent on the part of the government to charge a crime against the United States. They deny that any trade conspiracy existed. They maintain that the Sherman law was aimed at the suppression of conspiracies among traders, while the men indicted in the munitions plot are in no way competitors with the men whose trade it is charged they were conspiring against.

The Department of Justice is confident that the indictments will be sustained and that the three Washingtonians will be held for their appearance in New York to plead to the charges.

WESTERN UNION AND RAILROAD LOCK HORNS.

Louisville, Ky., January 19.—The court fight between the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Louisville & Nashville railroad over the use of the railroad's right of way for the telegraph lines will be resumed in the federal court here today when Judge Evans will hear testimony on the questions involved in a motion filed by the telegraph company asking for a decision as to whether the poles and wires of the telegraph company will interfere with the right of way as used for railroad purposes. In a former trial of the case, the jury returned a verdict of $500,000 damages for the railroad. The case will eventually go before a jury for a second trial, it is believed.

"I DON'T SUFFER ANY MORE"

"Feel Like a New Person," says Mrs. Hamilton.

New Castle, Ind.—"From the time I was eleven years old until I was seventeen I suffered each month so I had to be in bed. I had headache, backache and such pains I would cramp double every month. I did not know what it was to be easy a minute. My health was all run down and the doctors did not do me any good. A neighbor told my mother about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it, and now I feel like a new person. I don't suffer any more and I am regular every month."—Mrs. HAZEL HAMILTON, 822 South 15th St.

When a remedy has lived for forty years, steadily growing in popularity and influence, and thousands upon thousands of women declare they owe their health to it, it is not reasonable to believe that it is an article of great merit?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

WHEN THE KIDNEYS FAIL

Marysville People Have Found That Health Follows

Do you ever feel that you simply can't go any further—that you must have rest from that lame and aching back—relief from the constant, dead-tired feeling—freedom from those stabbing, darting pains? Likely your kidneys are worn and tired and need help. The kidneys work night and day, removing uric acid from the blood and other waste created by expenditure of strength and energy. Naturally a life of unusual activity doubles the duties of the kidneys and in time the strain generally tells. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought new strength to thousands of bad backs and quick relief to weakened kidneys, so users say. Let them do the same for you.

S. O. Duncan, blacksmith, Flemingsburg, Ky., says: "I had severe backaches and my kidneys were out of order, their action being irregular. Hearing about Doan's Kidney Pills, I gave them a trial and was soon convinced of their merit. They strengthened my kidneys and back."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Duncan had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Is Life Worth Living?

It Depends Upon the Liver.

Long living is the cause of most physical ills and generally stomach and liver are first to suffer.

Coffee drinking is a very common cause of digestive disorder, but it usually takes the user some time to fully realize it. Fact is—some people drink coffee with seeming impunity, but when disturbances of the digestive organs result in headache, biliousness, irritability and other common symptoms of caffeine poisoning it's time for the coffee drinker to look to his morning beverage for the true cause.

For any coffee drinker who finds that his health is wrong, but don't know just why, it's a good idea to quit the coffee and use

Made of wheat and a small amount of molasses, Postum has a rich, snappy flavor much like that of mild Java coffee yet contains no caffeine (the drug in coffee) nor other harmful element.

There are two forms of Postum. The original Postum Cereal must be boiled; Instant Postum is soluble in boiling water and can be made in the cup at table. Both kinds are equally delicious and the cost per cup is about the same.

A change from coffee to Postum is a good move toward right living.

"There's a Reason"

Send a 2-cent stamp to Postum Cereal Co., Ltd at Battle Creek, Mich., for a 5-cup sample of Instant Postum.

HOW'S THIS?

The average on the 188,000 pounds we sold the past week was $11.48, while the whole market was $11.61. Now, this $1.13 difference does not indicate that the buyers (who are intelligent men) can be forced or persuaded into giving us that much advantage, but rather that our Tobacco was better than the average.

All we claim is that we try to prevent any crop or even basket from being neglected, and bid on it up to what we think its value, thus backing our judgment by taking all we bid off, giving the owner a clean sale.

Do you see any difference in this statement and some others you see in print?
